TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

"Bud" Norton, the driver of the ill-fated Mesa-Roosevelt stage is reported much improved. His mother is still at Roosevelt with him.—Silver Belt.

In a fire at Clifton, the S. & S. Bottling works and some cottages were burned. The Bottling works loss being $34,000 to $35,000 with but $6,500 insurance.

Two million pounds of wool sheared and shipped from Yavapai county this season, makes this the banner year for the sheep owner. One shearing outfit operated 30 steam shearing machines.—Prescott Journal Miner.

The harem skirt has reached Globe not merely as a show but as an actuality and its utility and beauty—or hideousness according to the taste in dress of the beholder, demonstrated by a living model.—Silver Belt.

At the Shannon works ground has been broken for the erection of a large leacher or lixivation plant. The plant has all the modern appliances that recent tests have shown to be the most feasible for the treatment of the Shannon ores.—Copper Era.

The territorial supreme court in a decision rendered Saturday at Phoenix, court of Cochise county in the case of territory vs. Dan Williams, who was convicted of assault with intent to commit murder on the person of Officer Russell in this city about two years ago.—Douglas Dispatch.

The marble quarry, about 18 miles southwest from Bowie, has just been the subject of a contest, in which the government sought to annul the entry. This served to bring out the worth of the product, it being shown that as high as $1300 per car load has been realized from this marble which is of a very fine quality, being of the purest white, readily commanding a fancy price.—Bisbee Review.

Editor Banta, of the St. Johns Observer, keeps on saying that spineless cactus can be found growing wild on certain deserts in Arizona. Have heard other old time prospectors say the same thing. The reason that it is scarce is undoubtedly because, being without the protection of the spines, it is rapidly destroyed by stock and is only to be found in the most isolated places.—Exchange.

The Lee's Ferry Placer Mining company have bought 125 head of work oxen in New Mexico and will ship them here for use in freighting their machinery from Flagstaff to Lee's Ferry. This addition to their present outfit of work cattle will give them about 200 head. These long teams of oxen pull fifty tons of freight from Flagstaff to Lee's Ferry in about 20 days over a heavy sandy road.—Coconino Sun.

Superintendent Scheil, of the Truxton Canyon Indian school, at Valentine, informs us that the Wallapai Indians, now have a treasury of over $14,000, received from the rental of reservation lands to cattlemen. He is trying to get the department of Indian Affairs to allow this money to be used in the purchase of farm lands with necessary farm animals, as a nucleus to make the Indians self sustaining.—Kingman Miner.

The first unit of the Ray Consolidated concentrator is now in operation and treating 8000 tons of ore per day. This is not the full capacity of the unit. It will be handling 1000 tons per day, its full capacity, soon. The other seven 1000 ton units of the plant will soon be ready for operation, then 8000 tons of ore per day will be put through the mill. The present market value of the Ray Con. stock is $17 per share and when the big concentrator begins to handle 8000 tons of ore per day there will probably be a jump in the market value of this stock.—Florence Blade.

DISTRICT COURT.

District court will convene next Monday, April 10th, Judge Doan presiding.

The following grand and trial jurors were drawn by the jury commission, the former for April 10th and the latter for April 12th:

Grand Jury—W. E. Bowers, R. R. Earhart, Walter Fortune, M. P. Grady, W. D. Grey, Jas. E. Gatlin, J. T. Brickwood, E. E. Bethell, Fred Krager, Fred Miller, Thos. D. Casanega, Frank Powers, Wm. Schuckmann, T. B. Titus, Charles A. Banker, W. E. Balcom, Peter Bergier, Frank Reichert, George R. McCordle, George B. Marsh, I. Burgoon.

Trial Jury—Joseph E. Wise, Grant Lewis, Owen H. Walker, Allen Vostine, O. O. Saxhang, W. H. Smith, Harvey B. Walker, A. H. Weeks, Frank Irvine, Val. Valenzuela, jr., M. H. Barr, John Yoas, W. M. Marteney, J. J. Raphael, sr., J. R. Sarrels, E. H. Evans, B. F. Powell, Wm. R. Curtis, F. M. Parker, John Parker, George A. Narbeth, A. H. Parker, E. P. Cook, Ferd Van Mourick, Ray Sorrels, Frank H. Howard, R. E. Richardson, John Yutsey, D. C. Franklin, George Wieland, Harry Wood, E. C. Bartels, W. R. Chamberlain, C. B. Wilson, W. D. Parker, J. S. Gatlin, R. L. Parker, Henry Levin, E. A. Burton, Augustus Yarrick, Raymond Burrue, John Brown, Otto H. Herold, P. A. Blauser.

GREENE-CANANEA SMELTER.

Whatever the immediate future may hold in store for the Greene-Cananea on its own account, it cannot be denied that its smelting is destined to outrank any other in the southwest as a producer of copper bullion within the next three years. It is too early yet to forecast the extraction from the Miami concentrates, but is safe to aver that it will be a noticeable quantity of copper, and that it will increase in volume as that concern extends its operations. But greater than the Miami company's shipments are expected to become, will be the tonnage of concentrates from the Ray Consolidated, which will be treated at Cananea. The Greene-Cananea has a contract with the Ray for a period of four years, a contract that was secured in competition with the Douglas and El Paso smelters. Work has commenced on an 8,000 ton concentrator at the Ray, and there is every prospect that the output from its concentrates will be between 75,000,000 and 100,000,000 pounds of copper annually. Its proved ore is expected to be increased to 100,000,000 tons by the exploratory works now under way. Its ore averages 218 per cent copper, and at least 30 pounds will be recovered from each ton of ore.

Adding this output to the normal returns from its domestic mines, together with the Miami and the intermittent shipments from small operators in Sonora, it is plain that the production of copper from the local works will be a considerable item in the world's supply. That the Greene-Cananea has secured this vast custom business attests with striking clearness that its smelting is highly economical and efficient.—Sonora News.

At Bowie the rush for government land still continues. Homesteaders are coming in daily. Two drilling outfits have arrived and will begin at once to drill for artesian water. A colony from Kelly, New Mexico, headed by Mr. W. F. Gordon, a prominent capitalist, have taken up 1280 acres under the desert act and intend to start at once to drill for artesian water.

George Januel, the expert German barber, on Morley Ave., near International line, guarantees his work, and respectfully invites you to give him a trial. Everything neat and clean. Hair Cutting a specialty. tf.

"SEND MARK SMITH."

The Arizona Republican Wants Him in Washington.

If the people of Arizona really desire to achieve statehood through legislation at the extra session of congress, why do they not arrange to send Mark Smith to Washington? Mark Smith could accomplish something substantial. He would be of real help to Delegate Cameron. Mark Smith is personally known to most of the democratic members of the new house of representatives. He is an excellent terms with every republican senator and representative that served in congress when he did. He is a man of influence. His influence at Washington would be greater than that of any dozen citizens that could be sent.

Mr. Smith would gladly work with Delegate Cameron for statehood under the pending constitution. If admission should be found impossible without making some changes in the constitution—relieving the judiciary from the recall provision, for example—Mr. Smith would have the sense and patriotism to tell senators and congressmen that statehood would be accepted on the best terms obtainable. He would not be found playing a selfish personal game. He would not be found busy boosting the scheme of Bourne and LaFollette to make a martyr of Arizona in order that they might have an "issue" wherewith to keep themselves before the country. Mr. Smith would work for Arizona—not for selfish politicians who have no real interest in Arizona's welfare.

The press of Arizona undoubtedly voices the intelligent sentiment of the territory. Without exception the papers of this territory are ridiculing the pretensions of the little coterie of Phoenix politicians who purport to speak for the whole territory—politicians who are passing the hat and begging the people to equip them with funds wherewith to make a free trip to Washington for the glorification of themselves and Bourne and LaFollette.

What the people of Arizona want—what the honest newspapers of Arizona want—is statehood. They resent the suggestion that it is necessary to have it appear that we cannot send anybody but a characterless politician to Washington.

If Mark Smith should go to Washington for Arizona, republicans and democrats alike would gladly acclaim him their unofficial ambassador. It would not be necessary to send any disinfectants along with him. No reputable citizen of Arizona would have to make apology for him. Mark Smith's official and personal record in Arizona is a long one, and there is nothing in his record for which any citizen of Arizona has to apologize. We have had our fun from time to time in pointing out his too ready willingness to follow demagogues in order to avoid dissensions in his own party, but we have never doubted, and never had occasion to doubt, his sterling integrity, or his loyalty to Arizona.

This happens to be a time in which Arizona seems to need Mr. Smith at Washington. Delegate Cameron, ever since he took office, has worked industriously and faithfully to get statehood for the territory. When the record is made up, and the people know all the facts, they will be proud of what Cameron has done, and grateful for what he has done. But the whirligig of politics has brought the democratic party into control of the lower house of congress, and Mr. Cameron now ought to have the assistance of the democrats of Arizona. This assistance could not be made so effective through any other channel as through the services of Mark Smith. What we have said is based on the assumption that President Taft will reject the constitution. In anticipation of the president's adverse action, the democrats and republicans of Arizona should be prepared to lay aside all selfishness and all questions of partisanship, and stand shoulder to shoulder as loyal citizens of Arizona, working for a common cause. No course of action so practicable as the sending of Mark Smith to Washington occurs to us.

It is to Mark Smith's everlasting credit that, after a long service in congress he is a poor man, with no smell of smoke on his garments. There is nothing whatever to his discredit in the possible fact that he might find it inconvenient to go to Washington to represent Arizona at his own expense.

If the democrats of Arizona will take the lead in providing a fund for the expense of sending Mark Smith to Washington, The Republican will feel it a high privilege to make a contribution to the fund.—The Arizona Republican.
